FIFTEEN CENTS

Manslaughter

Meyers' killer guilty 4 counts

by GLORIA DAVIS

Quintin Stacy Allen, 19, was found guilty of manslaughter, robbery, kidnaping and burglary, in connection with the death of Mark Meyer, 25, formerly of Antioch.

According to the Polk County, Fla. Chief State's Atty. Hardy Pickard, the jury returned with the verdicts on Wednesday, April 11.

Pickard said that the prosecution had a hard time proving the first degree murder charge because Allen and Kenneth Palmer, 18, both blamed the other for the fatal stabbing of Meyer.

The two accused were the only two witnesses to Meyer's death.

Pickard said that the maximum sentence in Polk County for manslaughter is 15 years, robbery, 15 years, and kidnapping, life imprisonment.

A date has not been set for Allen's sentencing by the trial judge, Thomas Langston.

Palmer is due to face a pre-trial hearing on the same charges, on Tuesday, April 17, when a trial date is expected to be set.

Meyer, who had just moved from Chicago to the Winter Haven, Fla. home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer, was found stabbed to death and tied to a tree, in a pasture in nearby Lake Wales.

The two allegedly picked Meyer up near his home, on Nov. 6, robbed him and took him for a ride to the spot where he was killed.

They then returned to the Meyers' home and burglarized it.

Henry Meyer was superintendent of Antioch Grade School Dist. 34 until his retirement.

Nielsen fracas trial now in progress

Ted Nielsen, 44, Lake Villa, went to trial in Lake County Court on Friday, April 13, on charges made by the Antioch Police Dept. of three counts of battery, trespassing and resisting arrest.

Antioch Police Dispatcher Patty Germain and Officer James Blackwood testified for the prosecution, handled by Assistant States' Atty. Pat Quilty, in the morning.

Officer Ron Roth and Sgt. Charles Watkins testified in the afternoon session.

Nielsen, his daughter Christie, 20, and his brother Fred, allegedly created a scene at the Antioch Police Station in the early morning hours of Nov. 27.

They had reportedly gone to the station to bail out a friend of the daughter's who had been picked up and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Christie and Fred Nielsen were charged with disorderly conduct and obstructing an officer.

Watkins was thrown over a garbage can and Roth suffered a sprained wrist during the fracas.

The trial is expected to finish this week. Nielsen is former Lake Villa municipal official. Nielsen claimed he was injured by the police and ended up in the hospital.

Nielsen's lawyer is Ivan Tepper, Waukegan.

Revampers come up with two development plans

by GLORIA DAVIS

According to Antioch Mayor Ray Toft, the planned ground borings will tell if either of the two plans for the rehabilitation of Main St. are feasible.

The Antioch Redevelopment Commission presented one plan to the village board at the last board meeting that included the revamping of the existing buildings on the east side of Main St., from Depot St. past the old King's Drugstore.

The plan calls for the addition of landscaped terraces at the rear of the buildings and the building of a road connecting Park Ave. and Depot St.

The widening of Sequoit-Creek, forming a lake, and the possibility of building another senior citizen center in that area has been mentioned.

Toft said that the type of senior center talked about is one like Leisure Village in Fox Lake where the buildings are owned by the seniors themselves.

The other plan calls for the demolition of the buildings on the east side of Main St., from Teresi's water bed store to, and including Kings. Pittman Pontiac might be included later, added Toft.

A general merchandise store would then be built on that 13-acre-land-tract and space for smaller stores are in the plan. These stores would be set back from the street with allowable mall-style parking in the front.

"All of this is still in the talking stage," said Toft, adding, "If the ground testing is negative it's back to square one."

Homecoming queen in national contest

by GLORIA DAVIS

Maybe the students' choice for Antioch High School's (ACHS) 1983 Homecoming Queen, will become a national choice, if Antioch's girl wins America's Homecoming Queen Contest.

Cathy Schaffer, ACHS Queen and a senior, decided to fill out the form to enter the contest when she received it in the mail.

She was soon notified that she was one of the 50 or so state homecoming queen finalists who are eligible for the state contest, to be held on April 20 and 21, in Springfield.

She has $125 of the $200 entry fee and is hoping that some businesses will contact her if they are willing to help her raise the remaining $75.

She can be reached at the home of her proud parents, John and Pat Schaffer, (312) 395-1888.

She is a five foot, nine inch, 127 pound, blond, blue-eyed beauty, whose favorite sport is water skiing.

She is an ACHS pompon girl, on the Senior Class Executive Board, and is hoping to cop one of the scholarships being awarded state winners.

Cathy works at a pizza parlor after school and on weekends.

The first place winner gets a complete four-year scholarship to the college of her choice and the other three winners get smaller scholarships.

The State of Illinois winner will then go on to face the winners of the other 49 state competitions at the national finals in Memphis, Tenn.

Cathy has taken every course in high school that includes some architectural information and is presently leaning towards going after an architectural degree.

She has been informed that the contestants will be introduced to the panel of judges on Friday, April 20, when they will attend a dinner and a travel seminar supplied by the travel agency sponsoring the contest.

The girls will be judged on the judges' impressions from the dinner, and on Saturday, April 21, the girls will attend a luncheon wearing formals, at which the winners will be announced.

Cathy was born in California but has lived in Antioch with her parents, her older sister, Beth, and younger brother, Johnny, since she was eight years old.

After 3 years Schedule Bill Haley for trial

West Palm Beach Judge Richard Burke found both the prosecution and the defense ready for trial concerning the marijuana trafficking charges made against William Haley, 41, Antioch.

After the calendar call on Friday, April 13, Haley was set for one hour trial call, on Monday, April 16.

Haley's case has been on the continuance list, mostly to allow the defense to get further depositions, for the last three years.

The prosecuting attorney has also been changed several times. The last word was that Assistant States' Atty. Phillip Butler was handling the prosecution for the state.

Haley was implicated when a plane with a cargo of over $450,000 worth of marijuana was confiscated at the West Palm Beach Airport by drug authorities.

The pilot and another man on the plane claimed Haley paid them to fly the plane and marijuana into Florida.

When I think about it San Francisco opened its Golden Gate all the way

by GLORIA DAVIS

It's travelogue time again and this time you will be bored by my trip to the opulent west coast.

This was the first vacation that my husband took complete charge of, just to show me that he could do things as well and much cheaper.

I want to tell you that this "there ain't no free lunch believe," was really prepared for the worst. But, to my pleasant surprise, I can't say, "I told you so."

It all started when I was making plans for a trip to Jamaica. My husband, who suffers from being made to wear cleverness to every costume party, when all he wants to go as is a cowboy, finally put this foot down. Or should I say, his check book away?

"We are going to San Francisco or no place," he ranted and raved.

Since I've purposely stayed away from the west coast because some inner voice has always predicted the often-foretold parting of the San Andreas fault just as I arrived, I parried with a long tirade on the famous costliness of the Golden Gate City.

"Trust me," he answered. What choice did I have, anywhere seemed an improvement over the dankness of "spring" in Wisconsin or Illinois.

After finding out the air fare to California was $400 per person round trip, he set about improving on that expenditure.

This he did by buying two television sets, at $400 each, from a hot-shot dealer who was offering a free plane ticket to anywhere in the U.S. with each purchase.

Could I argue with his, "we at least get something besides our flight whether we need it or not."

So, ignoring my preparations for riding across country on an airplane's wing, he proceeded with his land plans.

He came up with a seven-day land tour, starting at Los Angeles and ending in San Francisco, that included a rental car to make the famed ocean-drive ride on Hwy. 1, down the coastline.

I don't know if it was the fact that the cost of hotels and the car was less than half of the price of hotels alone that gave me heart palpitations, or the sound of the name of the travel "experts" that offered it.

The name Houdini Tours wasn't so bad, but when "Nobody Promised You a Rose Garden," was the music played in my ear while the person who answered hollered for Harry, I did have moments of doubt enter my mind. Pictures of sleeping on a rock along California's coast, or in the least, riding down it in the side-car of a motorcycle, danced before my eyes.

Not only were all my fears unwarranted, but (if you only knew how this hurts) it was probably one of the nicest trips we've ever taken.

The plane rides were smooth an uneventful and we were saved from boredom by stewardesses that were shoving things into our mouths at frequent intervals.

In fact I've had a hard time getting used to not being force-fed every half-hour or so since we returned.

Being a frustrated star, I appreciated Hollywood's tarnished tinsel thoroughly, joyfully leaping into all the corny tourist traps.

We took the marble walk of the stars and at Mann's Chinese Theater, I discovered that Marilyn Monroe and I wore the same size-glove, that is.

I've come to the conclusion that cement must shrink as it dries or else everyone in Hollywood, including the male stars, wear or wore a size three shoe. This conclusion was drawn when my size 9B husband found his Adida's were bigger than John Wayne's cowboy boots.

We got chased by "Jaws" at Universal Studios, saw the house they used in "Psycho," a stunt man dive 15 feet from a saloon roof to a "rocky looking" mattress, and all in all, enjoyed tinsel-town.

Santa Barbara and its mission was very Spanish, extremely clean, and a nice place to live and visit both.

A visit to Hearst Castle in San Simeon was one of the trips' highlights. This is before-income-tax opulence at its height!

The five mile trip up the mountain to the castle, on a narrow road that has no guard rails, in a slippery rain, in a bus driven by a person who obviously idolizes Evil Knievel, made Great America's Edge look like a buggy ride. Let's not talk about the ride down please!

We took one of the four tours, spending two of the eight hours it takes to go through this magnificent edifice, seeing only the basics like an indoor and outdoor pool, each the size of six Olympic ones and a guest house that has 17 rooms.

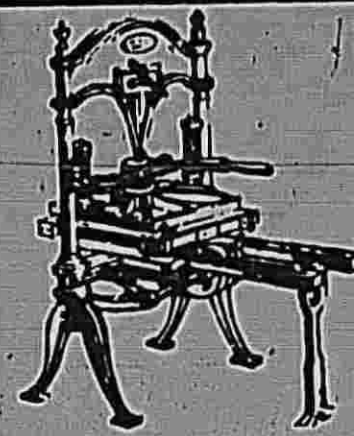

My daughter and her husband flew into Monterey to join us just so he could set foot on his dream place, the 10th tee at Pebble Beach.

The beauty and have-not pains we experienced in Carmel lingered, as we wended our way north, singing "San Francisco," and stopping at one, or two, or three wineries, just to taste of course.

Of course we visited "Hotel," in fact saw a show at the Fairmont, shopped in Chinatown, sailed under the Golden Gate Bridge, and inhaled heavenly fish on the wharf at "Scumies," or some such place that was really much better than its name boded.

We saw a few famous people, thought we saw many more, and my husband had wine and cheese with "Ordinary People's," director, Robert Altman. My daughter got Diane Carole's autograph, promptly lost it, and the western fanatsy came to an end as we all headed back home.

Oh, I almost forgot, the only things that parted were me and my next year's salary (spent on souvenirs and food). I would hate to see my husband's bubble burst if he ever finds out that the incidentals cost more than the trip, so that'll be a secret between you and I.

Museum depicts pioneers

The life of the pioneer woman is depicted in a new exhibit at the Lake County Museum. The exhibit was fabricated to celebrate Women's History week in Illinois, but will remain up until the summer.

Museum staff members Janet Smith of Antioch and Thelma Shanks of Libertyville chose artifacts that a pioneer woman would have used in her daily life. A butter churn, wooden bowls, basket, candles, and loom have all been included.

In addition to these objects, a pioneer woman would have used field tools as the roles for men and women in pioneer times were equal. It was necessary for survival that men and women worked together to make a living on unsettled lands.

As industrialization took over the United States, there became a greater separation of male and female roles. As the separation grew greater, men and women fought for equality. Pictures of those efforts serve as the backdrop for the exhibit.

Lake County Forest Preserve President Donald Strenger, commented, "This exhibit portrays the life of the pioneer woman, but also shows the strides that women have made in the history of our country."

The Lake County Museum is located 7½ miles west of Mundelein on Rte. 176 in the Lakewood Forest Preserve. The Museum is open daily from 1-4:30 p.m. Admission fees are: adults, 50 cents, students and senior citizens, 25 cents, pre-schoolers and museum association members, free. Monday is free day for visitors.

Wilmot Race Track start still remains in Limbo

by GLORIA DAVIS

When and how much racing will take place at the Wilmot Speedway, Wilmot, this coming season is still a question.

According to speedway leasee, Ray Toft, he had a meeting with the Kenosha County Fair Board on Wednesday, April 11. The board still hasn't come up with a revised contract, although Toft has agreed to let the Wilmot Firemen run the beer stand at the track as usual.

Toft had previously signed a five-year contract with the fair board to pay $58,000 to lease the track, the food, the popcorn and the beer concessions.

When the Salem Town Board, pressured by the firemen, who have run the beer booth for the last 10 years, told the fair board they would only issue a beer license to the firemen, the board was put into a bind until Toft agreed to a revised contract.

The new contract reportedly will call for Toft to pay $37,000 for the track, the popcorn and food concessions, with the firemen having agreed to meet Toft's beer booth bid of $21,000.

Meanwhile, the usual opening of the track draws near and no definite plans have been made by Toft to date.

Foreman's office observes rights week

Lake County State's Attorney Fred Foreman has announced that his office will promote and coordinate National Victim Rights Week April 15-21.

The purpose of this week, observed by the President of the United States and 45 states last year, is to recognize the problems faced by victims and witnesses and society's obligation to alleviate those problems.

"While there has been remarkable progress in the field of victim rights over the last three years, victims and witnesses still face devastating trauma which is compounded by the apathy of society and the criminal justice system," Foreman said.

This year the National Campaign for Victim Rights is focusing its concerns on victims of family violence, child victims, and the friends and families of victims.

While most victims suffer financial, physical, or psychological loss, special victim groups such as these have often been forgotten.

"I believe that all victims and witnesses are entitled to certain basic rights, among them, the right to protection from harm, the right to be treated with respect, and the right to be informed of available human services," Foreman states.

Foreman established the Lake County Victim Witness Assistance Program in 1981.

The program offers support to the victims of crime and also strives to return restitution to victims.

The program was recognized by the National Association of Counties in 1982 and was presented an award of excellence.

The state's attorney has been influential in his support for victims of domestic violence, rape, and child sexual abuse.

If there are any questions concerning the services of the Lake County State's Attorney's Office and its Victim Assistance Program, contact Ruth Rosengarden at (312) 689-6437.

Sequoit batting takes Carmel, Warhawks

With the 1984 high school baseball season just getting underway, the weather is already starting to interrupt the schedule, hopefully not as often as last season.

The Sequoit varsity nine are at 4-4 overall and 2-0, in North Suburban Conference play, as they get ready to face Warren on the Blue Devils' home territory, on Monday, April 16.

On Monday, April 9, Antioch played at Carmel and won the non-conference game, 8-5. John Ruggles went all the way for the Sequoits, giving up five runs, two earned, striking out one, and walking four batters.

Frank Mahar had the heavy bat in this one, with a three run homer in the third, when the Sequoits were down 5-3. Mahar's homer put Antioch on top.

In a big conference game against North Chicago Warhawks, on Thursday, April 12, the Sequoits topped the Warhawks' five run lead in the first to win, 18-5.

Heavy bats for this one included Joel Bissing with a single, double, and four RBI's; John Humphreys, single, home run and one RBI; Craig Prather, two singles and three RBI's and John Mahar, triple, home run and four RBI's.

Humphreys stayed on the mound all the way with five strikeouts and one walk.

Sequoit Coach Tom Baba, who has been used to a deep pitchers' bench, is going with Humphreys as a starter. Injuries have Baba still looking for that all important second and third throw artist.

Jeff Johnson was set to undergo knee surgery on Monday, April 16.

Baba seemed to have his boys slamming the ball well and then the rains came to slow the Sequoits down.

The Sequoits will take on Lake Forest at home on Tuesday, April 17; a non-conference game at Round Lake on Thursday, April 19; and a big conference double header, at Antioch, against Stevenson, on Saturday, April 21.

Group dines, dances

President Mary Baker of the North Shore Loon Lake Assn. and Secretary Lil Golonka planned a beautiful dinner dance for April 7 at the Tower Room in Antioch.

A good time was had by all and many door prizes were given away. All the members and friends of the association are looking forward to another successful event in the future.

BITE GUARDS

Q. Is there any way to stop someone from grinding or clenching his/her teeth?

A. A removable appliance called a bite guard or bite shield can be made from clear plastic to fit over the upper or lower teeth, depending on the patient's particular requirements.

This device offers notable relief for a wide range of symptoms of TMJ (temporomandibular joint) syndrome — headaches, neckaches, dizziness, eye pain, ear complaints, jaw clicking, cracking and locking, among others.

Most afflicted people wear a bite/guard at night. Others need it for daytime stress, and some require it 24 hours a day. The device should be checked and adjusted periodically for scratches and wear.

'Boys' come to Marriott

Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre presents the seldom seen Rodger and Hart musical comedy, "The Boys From Syracuse," after its highly successful American premiere of "Windy City."

"The Boys From Syracuse," originally produced in 1938, features songs such as "Falling In Love With Love," "This Can't Be Love," and "Sing For Your Supper," that displays the wit and brilliance that made Rodgers and Hart "the American Gilbert and Sullivan."

This newly stylized production will begin previews on April 25, open May 2, and will play through July 15.

Resident-Director David H. Bell re-vamps this musical comedy of twin brothers in ancient Greece (loosely based on Shakespeare's "Comedy Of Errors") with a high-camp 1940's "Swing" style, complete with jitterbug and "truckin'" choreography in his Jeff-Award-winning style.

Musical Director Kevin Stites imbues the Rodgers and Hart score with Andrew Sisters' harmony and Glenn Miller big-band sound that make the melodies fresh, tuneful and arresting even years after they were written.

Marriott Theatre veterans Kurt Johns and Rob Rahn are united as the Antipholus twins and Marriott newcomers Gene and Joel Sager are the Dromiot twins.

Their adventures as brothers (doubled) separated at birth (even their wives aren't sure) and the confusion of identities creates a roistering and rollicking musical comedy.

Featured in the cast are Mary Ernster and Kathy Jaek as the wives; Judith Smith as the comely courtesan; Nancy Voigts as the daffy maid, Luce; and Bruce Falco, Rudy Hogenmiller, Jack Kyrieleison, Bob Lambert, Iris Lieberman, Chuck Lubeck and Mark Ward.

"The Boys From Syracuse," plays Wednesdays at 2 and 8:30 p.m.; Thursdays (including a free steak dinner) at 8:30 p.m.; Friday at 8:30 p.m.; Saturdays at 6 and 9:30 p.m.; and Sundays at 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Ticket prices range from $18 to $24, with student, senior citizens and active military discounts.

Dinner packages are available at one of Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort's fine restaurants. Reservations are with a major credit card by calling (312) 634-0200 or through Ticketmaster.

Family Service Agency eyes court conciliation

A large crowd is expected at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, April 24 in the Sheraton-Waukegan Inn to celebrate the 36th annual dinner meeting of Family Service Agency of North Lake County, announced Dick Mitchell, executive director.

Dr. Charles Thomas, Supt. of North Chicago Elementary School Dist. 64, who serves on the Family Service Agency Board, is annual meeting chairman. This dinner meeting, open to the public, will feature the Honorable Judge Alphonse F. Witte of the 19th Judicial Circuit, Lake County, who will address the topic, The Court Conciliation Program.

Judge Witt, together with Judge Jane Waller, formulated this pilot program last summer in conjunction with the Domestic Relations Court, where he sits as presiding judge of the family division.

The purpose of this program is to provide crisis intervention counseling to divorcing couples who experience difficulty in resolving disputes involving custody, visitation, or domestic violence, and who indicate a serious interest in reconciliation, or who demonstrate unusual bitterness or hostility during the dissolution proceedings. Settlement of the dispute without litigation is the goal of the program.

According to Mitchell, this Family Service Agency along with other providers, was selected to render professional conciliation counseling to divorcing couples. "Each year our Lake County Circuit Court handles about 3,000 divorce cases. The cost of divorce in terms of time, money, and pain is staggering for all parties concerned, and it is good to help couples reach agreement and settlement through the counseling process rather than endure a lengthy and expensive courtroom battle that is often fraught with name calling, frustration, and bitterness," said Mitchell.

Judge Witt is well qualified to give a good overview of the Court Conciliation Program, which was endorsed by the Lake County Bar Assn. and is funded in part by the county and by fees paid by the divorcing couples.

The judge's legal background includes nine years as assistant state's attorney (1967 to 1976), where he established himself as a tough, but fair, prosecutor. Since 1976, he has been an associate judge where he is viewed as a well qualified jurist and is currently presiding judge of the family division.

"In addition to Judge Witt as featured speaker, entertainment will be provided by the Honor Choir of A.J. Katzenmaier School, under the direction of Patrick Goodwin," noted Mitchell.

Board President Charles E. Heyward, of Cherry Electrical Products, will expedite the business portion of the annual meeting, hearing reports from both membership and nominating committees.

Family Service Agency is a chartered member of the United Way of Lake County and we anticipate a greeting from Edward Potts, executive director.

For reservations contact Family Services Agency of North Lake County, 319 N. County St., Waukegan, or call (312) 662-4464.

Fisher, Pagni victors in St. Peters election

The balloting for the two open board seats on St. Peters School Board, held after Masses, on Sunday, April 15, saw Tom Fisher as the top vote getter.

Fisher and Bruce Pagni, defeated the other two challengers, Tom Shaugnessy and Mike Noland. The two victors will officially take their three-year board seats at the May 10 meeting.

The board will now consist of Linda Petersen, president, and Pat Kenyon, Gail Moser, Dennis Sheehan, Tim Wells, Fisher and Pagni.

The board will elect a vice-president and secretary from the board members.

Men to pray, eat

The Eighth Annual Lake Region Community Men's Prayer Breakfast will be held on April 28 at 7 a.m. at the Tower Room in the Antioch Bowl on Rte. 173, one block west of Rte. 59.

Tickets for the breakfast are being sold through local churches and by the Prayer Committee at a cost of $6. The Buffet Breakfast and program is open to all.

The program will include music and a talk by Dick Hundrieser entitled "Thank God We Can Change."

Hundrieser is a native Chicagoan, a consulting engineer and has master degrees in management and international business and finance and theological studies. He has spent nearly 20 years in Africa as a missionary, director and administrator of an international school and general hospital in Africa. He also worked as mission treasurer and director of building of rural health works.

Jesus Christ has been a guiding light for Hundrieser, and his message will have something for all, organizers said.
